1 NAT in action

- Recall that, at the beginning of this week, you changed your virtual-machine configuration to use "bridged" networking instead of (though you may not have noticed it at the time. . .) NAT.

  Switch back to NAT. Run Wireshark on both your virtual machine and the host computer. Visit some websites. Observe the translation in action by manually correlating packets between the two instances of Wireshark

```
1.PNG
```